

You are here :    About us History

History

For several decades, the evaluation of higher education and research has been constantly evolving. From the creation of the National Evaluation Committee in 1984 to the establishment of the High Council for the Evaluation of Research and Higher Education, which became an independent public authority in 2022, each step has been aimed at ensuring the quality of European higher education through a common and structured framework.

---